

Director's Note

Hello friends,

It's the end of an era for the Library Foundation of Newberg, one that started in 1991. Allyn Brown and a few others started the foundation to establish a nonprofit group to manage endowments for the benefit of library. This December Allyn Brown and two other long-time foundation members, Sharon Hatfield and Judi Worrall, are retiring from the foundation.

We are so grateful for all of their work for the benefit of the library. The Library Foundation has continuously supported the Growing Readers program, providing free books to many babies, preschoolers, and kindergarteners. The foundation also supported the expansion of the Children's Library, and continues to support the library by providing funding for many library programs.

With the retirement of these foundation members, the Library Foundation of Newberg is seeking members who value the library and are looking for an opportunity to help grow and expand the Library Foundation by connecting community with the library. To find out more about joining the Library Foundation of Newberg please contact foundation member Rea Andrew at realouise1950@gmail.com.

As you consider your end-of-year giving opportunities we hope you will consider the Library Foundation of Newberg for endowments. For non-endowment gifts please consider the Newberg Library Friends, a nonprofit group that funds library programming and restoration projects around the library.

With gratitude,

Korie Jones Buerkle
Library Director
